Instructor: Sheila Angell, BS, Early Childhood Education Trainer*

Routines & Relationships

April 5th - Thursday @ 6:00 - 9:00 pm

Daily routines, such as feeding, diapering, arrivals and departures, create intimate bonds between child and caregiver. Routines provide important learning opportunities for infants and toddlers. Accurate written records on routines can be used to reflect on children's growth and development and to share knowledge with families.

ckc: Learning Environments & Curriculum, Set 1

The Ages of Infancy

April 12th - Thursday @ 6:00 - 9:00 pm

Infancy is the period of greatest change and growth in life. As infants progress through stages in their first three years, they have unique developmental and learning characteristics. When caregivers understand the needs of infants at different stages, they will support healthy learning and development.

ckc: Human Growth & Development, Set 1

Cultural Sensitivity

April 26th - Thursday @ 6:00 - 9:00 pm

Cultural sensitivity is a commitment to understand and support the values, practices and attitudes of people. By providing culturally sensitive child care, caregivers build children's confidence, competence and connections. To become culturally sensitive, each person must begin with an awareness of her or his own cultural identity and beliefs. Developing sensitive program policies and negotiating cultural conflicts helps caregivers form partnerships with families.

ckc: Diversity, Set 1

Movement for Learning

May 22nd - Tuesday @ 6:30 - 8:30 pm

Movement activities are critical for health and learning in young children. Skills and control developed through gross motor activities affect the development in other domains as well. Physical activity is a key strategy identified to impact children's health. We will explore a combination of movement curriculum activity ideas from Brain Gym, Bal-A-Vis-X, I Am Moving, I Am Learning.

Instructor: Jean Johnson, BS, Early Learning Trainer
